Holdings of potatoes destined for processing are down 12.5% or almost 5 million hundred weight below the 3-yr. average on February 1st. The largest decline is in New Brunswick at 56% below 3-yr. averages for this time of year. Alberta processing stocks are 18.7% below historical followed by PEI with a reduction of 13.8%. Manitoba's holdings are 18.2% above 3-yr. average but cullage rates may level out that number. Imports of potatoes moving into that province have slowed in recent weeks. Ontario's chip stocks are up 10.5% above other years, to balance demand in that sector.
